

'How To Liberate the World' Author Closes Out Four-part Presentation

Gordon Klingenschmitt, author of the book 'How to Liberate the World – A Step-by-Step Guide to Take Back Your Country' concluded his four-part series of presentations at the January 8 meeting of the forum. The presentation was oriented toward educating RSF members about each chapter in his book.

The Republican Strategy Forum wishes to express a big THANK YOU! to Gordon for taking the time to educate RSF members on how to “Liberate the World”.

The underlying purpose behind inviting Gordon to speak about his book was to present a path forward for the RSF to “Liberate Colorado” – (Turn Colorado Red Again).

Armed with this newfound knowledge, the RSF now must decide whether to take on the task of “liberating Colorado”.

A ‘post-presentation’ survey form was distributed at the meeting to assess the level of interest for participating in the effort to “Liberate Colorado”. The Results will be announced at the January 22 RSF meeting.

As of this newsletter, six post-presentation survey forms have been returned. We need your input! Completed survey forms must be received prior to the January 22 meeting (earlier is better!)

Be sure to bring the completed form to the next RSF meeting scheduled for January 15. ●

Group of Colorado Legislators Refuse to Certify 2024 Election Results

Stephen Smith

Six Republican state representatives have refused to certify the 2024 Colorado general election results. Their objection is based on the discovered posting of BIOS voting system equipment passwords on the Colorado Secretary of State’s general public website just prior to the 2024 general election.

BIOS passwords allow access to the electronic voting system equipment software used throughout Colorado.

Anyone with access to the voting systems had the ability to alter the trusted build of those systems without leaving any signs of tampering with the software.

The passwords were posted – either intentionally or unintentionally – from September 2024 to October 24, 2024. The entire State of Colorado electronic voting system network was exposed to anyone in possession of the passwords for a minimum of at least two months.

The password enables anyone access to the trusted build of the voting system equipment in 63 of Colorado’s 64 counties.

This breach of proprietary electronic voting system equipment was not originally disclosed by the office of the Secretary of State. At a very minimum this breach raises a serious question about the integrity of the Colorado electronic voting system equipment and software and the accuracy of the results of the general election in Colorado. ●

RSF Officer Candidates Announced for 2025

As of the January 8, 2024 RSF meeting, the current officers for Chair (Sandy Mattingly), Vice Chair (Paul Prentiss) and Secretary (Pete Coggeshall) have announced their candidacy for the 2025 RSF calendar year.

Our current treasurer, Julia Lindahl, has announced she will not be running for re-election.

On behalf of the RSF team we want to give Julia a big THANK YOU and a BIG ROUND OF APPLAUSE for her service as Treasurer and hope she will continue to contribute to the RSF purpose for the coming year.

Margarite Osterman has announced her candidacy for treasurer for the upcoming 2025 RSF calendar year and is running unopposed as of the date of this newsletter. ●

Colorado Grants Drivers Licenses to Illegal Immigrants

As reported in Judicial Watch, Colorado allows illegal immigrants to obtain drivers licenses if they provide a foreign birth certificate, foreign passport or consular card and evidence of residency in the state.

Policies enacted by local sanctuary governments to benefit illegal aliens can be easily exploited and go against federal laws meant to protect the nation's citizens and legal residents. ●

The Silence Dogood Letters

Donald (Dwight) Johnson

Silence Dogood was the pen name used by Benjamin Franklin to get his work published in the New-England Courant, a newspaper founded and published by his brother. This was after Benjamin Franklin was denied several times when he tried to publish letters under his own name in the Courant. The 14 Mrs. Silence Dogood letters were first printed in 1722. As a young boy, Franklin worked as an apprentice in his older brother's printing shop in Boston, where The New-England Courant was published and printed. Franklin never got anything he wrote published, so, at age 16, he created the persona of a middle-aged widow named Silence Dogood.

Silence Dogood template is a way of expressing yourself without giving you real name with a controversial opinion. Hence, the Silence Dogood letters. ●

Liberate Colorado: Next Steps

This past September, a survey was taken to determine the level of interest by RSF members to engage in the effort to ‘Liberate Colorado’ (Make Colorado Red Again) using Gordon Klingenschmitt’s book ‘How to Liberate the World’.

The majority of responses were ‘undecided’ due to members indicating a lack of knowledge about the contents of the book.

To close the knowledge gap, the author was invited to present a four-part series describing the contents of the book to RSF members. Now armed with that knowledge, a follow-on survey is currently being conducted (see step 7 in adjacent column) to re-evaluate the level of interest by RSF members to ‘Liberate Colorado’.

Regardless of the results of the survey, the next step (8) is to form a committee dedicated exclusively to ‘Liberate Colorado’.

Forming a committee to ‘Liberate Colorado’ is not automatic. A motion must be made and seconded to open the floor for a vote by RSF members for permission to proceed with forming the committee.

If the motion fails, the effort to ‘Liberate Colorado’ is likely ended. If the motion passes, the next step is to solicit members for the committee to ‘Liberate Colorado’.

Once committee members are determined, they must elect a representative to report status to the RSF team.

Next, it is highly recommended the committee craft a charter describing purpose – where it is going, how it is going to get there, and present it to the RSF for approval. ●

How to Submit Articles

Have some information to share with the RSF? Post it in The Red Wave! All submittals must be in writing. Email your submittal to: redroosterreport@gmail.com. Opinions, articles, commentary, announcements, and questions ALL WELCOME! (Subject to approval by RSF Officers).

Articles from other sources generally will not be published directly but instead linked to your source document. Your interest-leading introduction describing the article is what will be published in The Red Wave. Be sure to cite your source(s)!
